

Innovation, Energy, Experience: Helping Transform Mental Health Systems

Do YOU have a critical state project that needs a push?

What TTI Skills Can Help Your State Project?

The TTI has successfully collaborated on 362 awards in developing, executing, and implementing their strategic ideas with skills in:

- Project Management that Launches Action
- Strategic Communications and Social Marketing
- National Subject Matter Expertise
- Data Collection and Evaluation
- Collaborative Problem Solving
- Coalition Building

NASMHPD

The TTI team provides intense and individualized technical assistance to states, territories, and communities as one-time projects with minimal requirements to produce robust outcomes. In recognizing the unique and complex needs of behavioral health systems, NASMHPD fosters a wide range of experts, including voices of lived experience, state behavioral health agency experts, and subject matter experts; NASMHPD also maintains a wide range of skills to support the unique needs of individual projects.

Project Management

- Kickstarts, organizes, and provides resources for up to 50 projects a year, with working knowledge of the prior 362 unique projects.
- Ensures excellent record keeping, document management, and team coordination.

Strategic Communications and Social Marketing

- Expertise in strategic partnerships, audience analysis, and key collaborations.
- Facilitates the network and exchange of information for cross system collaboration through webinars and resources.

National Subject Matter Experts

- Behavioral health experts with concentrations in workforce; forensics; children, youth, and families; research; peer support; and in the territories and tribal nations.
- Trainers in emotional intelligence (EQ), Wellness Recovery Action Plan (WRAP).

Data Collection and Evaluation

- Successful track record assisting states in achieving robust outcomes.
- Experience with mixed-methods research and participating in institutional review boards.

Collaborative Problem Solving

- Creative thinking and solutions for complex problems as well as learning opportunities with other states and territories.
- Experienced collaborators with flexible and adaptive listening skills to support transformational innovations in behavioral health systems.

Unique Value of the TTI Experience...

TTI has Longstanding Relationships with 49 States, DC, and 6 Territories

The TTI team meets state/territory teams where they are to wrap around supports, resources, intensive TA on a critical project. With national expertise and contacts, the TTI team is able to assist the states assess and organize for success, by being conduits to other states with proven track records. This facilitates peer-to-peer expert learning. The TTI Team Offers:

- One-on-One TA to help brainstorm successful strategies and hands on efforts to assist the state move forward
- Connection to national (Subject Matter Experts) SMEs
- TTI to TTI Connections to others who have done similar work, & their lessons learned

- A nationally known entity to provide the gentle nudging to keep a project on point and on time
- Professional, organizational and emotional support helping state staff amidst their overextended schedules

The TTI Experience

NASMHPD brings national expertise, technical assistance, and resources to support critical state projects to ensure on-time robust outcomes. Do you have a critical state project which could use the edge of the TTI Team approach?

Proven Track Record

We have successfully assisted states in achieving robust outcomes in the following areas:

- Workforce development, support, and expansion (both professional and paraprofessional)
- Emergency mental health services
- Training opportunities and programs to support forensically involved populations
- Training and embedding peers in crisis systems, justice systems
- Equipping staff to serve specific populations such as Deaf & Hard of Hearing
- Suicide prevention for first responders,
- Youth peers in youth suicide prevention work
- Crisis workforce wellness efforts
- Expansion of mobile crisis response teams
- Identifying and expanding community interventions for youth with high acuity and complex needs
- Community mobile outreach vans for women leaving incarceration
- Mental health services for veterans as they navigate civilian life and their mental health needs
- Peer support for older persons in long term care facilities
- Improving service outcomes in various settings across the crisis continuum

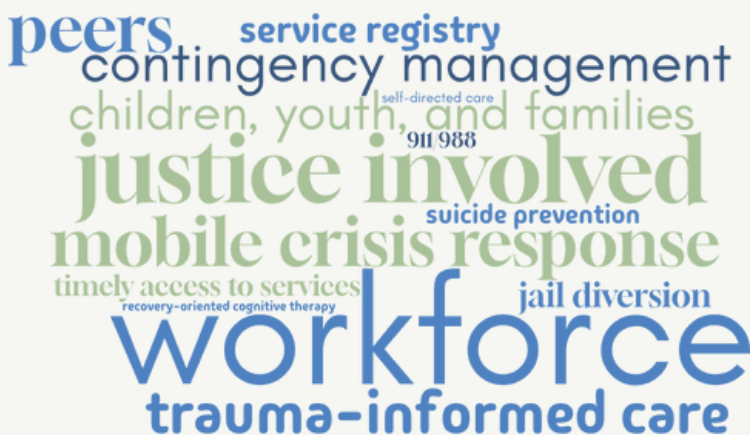

The TTI Team Advantage

Unique opportunities for state-to-state collaboration:

- Knowledge and resource exchange
- Fostering understanding, brainstorming, support, and creativity

The TTI Team can be tapped to:

- Research, design, implement, and strengthen initiatives focused on improving crisis services

The TTI team consists of subject matter experts in many fields.

- Focus on various phases of system change

Cross-Agency Collaboration

- Law enforcement, correctional facilities, forensic systems, school systems, hospitals, emergency departments, faith-based programming, children-serving systems, 911 and first responders, supported housing

The TTI experience is a dependable, cost-effective package that helps state behavioral health authorities strengthen, sustain, and transform their systems. With access to in-house subject matter experts, tailored technical assistance, peer-to-peer learning, and sustainability-focused reporting, the TTI experience supports state projects. Funding the TTI experience enables states to achieve lasting improvements—building programs that meet evolving needs while driving measurable behavioral health outcomes.

Can We Assist You?

To inquire about contracting with the TTI Experience, contact David Miller, Senior Operations and Project Director, at david.miller@nasmhpd.org or (703) 399-6892.

nasmhpd.org/tti

“The technical assistance we have received from NASMHPD has been invaluable for the work that is currently happening and is being planned through this TTI [award]. The technical assistance we have received, from data collection to program implementation, as well as reaching out to partners across the country for guidance on how to develop procedures to expand our work, has allowed us to lay a foundation for the sustainability of our work beyond the life of this [award].”

– Previous TTI State Team Lead